

ROBOTSYSTEMS

Rohaco Industrial Handling is a supplier of robot handling solutions and bespoke handling machinery. During the last 35 years Rohaco has completed successful projects in a range of industries. The solutions are based on industrial or gantry robots. Rohaco has the flexibility to undertake turn key stand alone projects or act as a partner with system integrators. Let Rohaco solve your handling problems automatically.

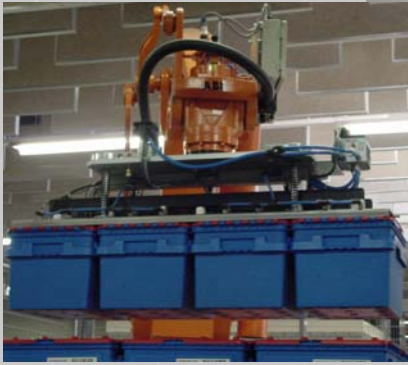

Industrial robots

Rohaco has integrated 40 robots in the last 5 years. Rohaco enjoys an excellent working relationship with both end users and system intergrators.

Gantry robots

Rohaco Gantry robots are customer specific configured from standard module options. The range includes 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 axis robots, which will satisfy any heavy duty requirements our customers need. To date Rohaco has completed the installation of 90 gantry robots, from a 6 axis turn key project, to 2 axis manipulators for system integrators for the Asian market. Rohaco delivers the flexibility its customers seek.

Robot solutions

Robots are capable of performing monotonous, repetitive and arduous operations. They can be sited in hazardous and high risk areas. Rohaco has standard solutions for : palletising, de-palletising, robots in production automation for tool changes, matrix changes, lorry unloading and operating in production buffers.

Relationships

Rohaco's robot installations are fundamental to their customers production processes and are in service for a long time. Working closely with the customer, Rohaco's enthusiasm and knowledge develop the most effective solution.

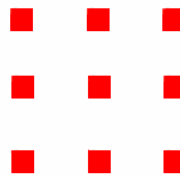

This is supplemented by the option of a 24 hr / 7 day support standby on a service and maintenance contract. These form the basis of a long and happy relationship.

Rohaco also seeks a close relationship with their integrators, viewing them as partners. Close co-operation and an approach as flexible as our robot solutions always results in a good relationship, all our solutions are based on innovation, quality, experience and caring for our customers.
